

Institute of Scientific Instruments (ISI)
a research institute of The Czech Academy of Sciences, having its registered office at Královopolská 147,
612 64 Brno, Czech Republic

To: Dr. Serhii Lebedynskyi,
Institute of Applied Physics,
National Academy of Sciences of Ukraine,
58, Petropavlivska St., 40000 Sumy, Ukraine

in Brno, October 2025

CONFIRMATION OF RESEARCH INTERNSHIP

This is to certify that Dr. Serhii Lebedynskyi has completed a research internship at the Institute of Scientific Instruments of the Czech Academy of Sciences (ISI CAS).

The internship took place from 1 October 2025 to 30 October 2025 at the institute's facilities in Brno, Czech Republic. During this period, Dr. Lebedynskyi was actively involved in research activities within laboratories focused on the investigation and characterization of material properties of field emission cathodes. His work included participation in experimental measurements, data analysis, and consultation with ISI CAS scientific staff.

Dr. Lebedynskyi conducted his research professionally and adhered to all applicable laboratory and institutional regulations. His contribution to the ongoing research efforts in advanced electron emission materials was valuable and highly appreciated.

doc. Ing. Alexandr Knápek, Ph.D.
Supervisor of the fellowship

Signature

A handwritten signature in blue ink, appearing to read 'Alexandr Knápek', written in a cursive style.